This is one of Taggart's old tricks. A few weeks before the election four years ago he ousted John J. Rochford, then chairman of the county committee, and took the reins in his own hands. In the last city aign he placed Deputy City Attorney Bell in the city committee rooms to supersede the man chosen by the Democrats of the city to act as chairman, and now, it is given out on good authority, during the closing days of this campaign, when whatever money the Democrats may have at their command will be put to the worst use, Mayor Taggart proposes to be the director. That Judge Sullivan, who represents the better element of the Democrats of this 121/2 inches. county, will resent the slight put upon him goes without saying. He did not want to eccept the chairmanship, because it would interfere with his private business, but finally consented to do so at the earnest solicitation of his friends, who thought they saw, through his acceptance, a chance patch up the differences that existed within the Democratic party in this county. It is understood that Mr. Taggart claims that Judge Sullivan has not devoted the proper amount of attention to the duties devolving upon the chairman, by way of "squaring" himself for his dictatorial ac-It is surmised, however, that if Chairman Sullivan has not entered into the work of the campaign heartfly it is because was not thoroughly in sympathy with Taggart tactics. ### WELCOME TO PASTOR.

A Pleasant Evening at the Hyde-Park M. E. Church.

The members of the Hyde-park M. E. Church gathered in the church auditorium last night, to welcome Rev. James Baker, the new pastor. Rev. Baker has but recently taken the pulpit of this church. He was formerly pastor of the Locust-street M. E. Church, at Greencastle, Ind., and last year he completed his studies and graduated at the Boston Theological Seminary. He is known to be an eloquent speaker, and a deep student. He is mar-ried, and has taken his permanent home at 157 West Thirtieth street.

Rev. Baker was welcomed by representatives of various branches of the church. W. N. Northcutt spoke for the church. He said it was with a feeling of sadness that the congregation parted with the recent pastor, but it was with a feeling of gladness that they welcomed Rev. Baker, the new pastor. He also said the path of a preacher at times was not an easy one, and hoped the members of the congregation would frequently invite Rev. Baker to their homes, and welcome him as a brother. H. T. Seburn spoke for the Epworth League and B. N. Gillespie represented the Sunday school.

Rev. Baker was called upon, and, in reonding to the welcome given him, said he hoped there would be a revival in religion among the congregation of Hydepark Church, and that in a short time the members of the church would be able to purchase new ground, instead of owning a church on leased ground. He said ere would be revival meetings this year. Music was furnished by a mandolin club.

ANDERSON, Ind., Oct. 23.-The largest political meeting of colored citizens ever ing taken in the entertainments, and it held in Madison county was the gathering at the opera house in this city last night, when fully a thousand assembled to hear Hon. Preceeding the speaking the "White Wings Colored Republican Club," a hundred and fifty voters strong, paraded the streets of the city and marched in a body to the opera house LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.-With im- The meeting was under the auspices of "Rescue Riders Club" and was presided over by Dr. C. R. Atkins. The latter, in introducing the speaker said the colored man of the North had more at stake in this campaign than at any time since the civil war, as it was the Repubcan party that had offered him every hope he had cherished and that the race owed not only the right of suffrage, except in States where the domination of Democracy had rendered that impossible, but every added opportunity that had been given to the race in the last quarter of a century that meant its advancement, prosperity and uplift. His remarks were heartily applauded and he wittily introduced Mr. Lyons as the "man who signed all of Uncle Sam's money, and although he may not bring you a paper dollar, a silver dollar, or a gold dollar, yet his gospel will be worth a hundred cents every time."

Mr. Lyons was given a hearty reception. and for more than an hour spoke with eloquence and feeling. He showed the wonlerful advance of his race since war days, due to the aid and encouragement of Republican legislation and Republican assistance. The deception and insincerity of the Democratic party was vividly pictured in so far as its "issues" in this campaign are concerned. He exposed the false cry of mperialism, and said the only form of imperialism in this country is that forced on the colored race in the South by Tillman and his followers, the real managers and dictators of the Democratic policy. The Democratic party, he declared, is after their votes, and the Republican party offered them a chance to better their condition and urges them to become men. The speech glowed with eloquent periods, and the tribute to President McKinley and to the colored troops in the civil war and at San Juan were received with great applause. In closing he urged the colored citizens of Anderson and Madison county to support the Republican nominees from President to constable. The Delaware-street M. E. Church (colored) tendered a banquet to Mr. Lyons at he conclusion of the speech at the opera house, and this was attended by a number of the leading citizens of Anderson, including Judge McClure, Councilman Wooley, J.

M. M. Garland, Himself Long a Laborer, on Dinner-Pail Ethics.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PORTLAND, Ind., Oct. 23.-M. M. Garland, the eloquent ex-president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, addressed an enthusiastic audience of Republicans at Dunkirk to-night, discussing the issues of the campaign from a workingman's standpoint and for the benefit of workingmen. Mr. Garland worked for years in a rolling mill and tolled before the puddling and heating furnaces. He discussed fully the passage of the eight-hour law for workingmen by a Republican House. It then went In the course of his remarks, Mr. Garland said the Democratic party has always been one of promises, while the Republican party has been one of performances. The latter does not talk of prosperity between 1893 and 1897, but does tell of what it is going to do. The Republican party points to its record and says: "This is what we have done; judge for yourselves." The trust question was also given some consideration, and the speaker showed that the only antitrust law on the statute books was presented by a Republican, passed by a Republican Congress, and signed by a Republican President. In closing, Mr. Garland defined the full dinner pail as meaning not merely breakfast, dinner and supper. but more dollars for those who labor, and better conditions and more happiness.

Senator Beveridge Addresses Greensburg Republicans.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. GREENSBURG, Ind., Oct. 23 .- Senator A. J. Beveridge spoke to-day to a crowd of several thousand people in the courthouse park. The crowd commenced coming early, and by noon the streets were thronged with people. A very attractive feature was the large parade of Fremont and Lincoln voters, Rough Riders to the number of 500, many companies in full uniform, and a large number of other marchers. Along the line of march many dwellings and business houses were attractively decorated with the national colors. The city schools were dismissed, and hundreds of business men turned out, in full accord with the spirit of the occasion.

A grand ovation was given Senator Beveridge as he took the stand. It continued for many minutes before he could be heard. Greensburg was ablaze with enthusiasm all day, and the eloquent phrases and convincing argument of the speaker stirred the crowd mightily. One of the most enthusiastic auditors on the stage was George W. Geivin, an attorney-at-law, of Batesville. He had been elected to introduce John W. Kern at a Democratic meeting held at Batesville last evening, but as he was not wholly in accord with Populism, although having voted for Bryan four years ago, he declined, as he could not again indorse Bryan's falla-cies, and to-day, after listening to Senator Beveridge, announced himself for McKinley. John L. Griffiths to the Farmers and Miners of Clay County.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CARBON, Ind., Oct. 23 .- John L. Griffiths, of Indianapolis, addressed one of the largest gatherings ever assembled in this place to-night. The crowd consisted of farmers and miners, principally, and the great enthusiasm displayed surely indicated that they will not support Bryan. Mr. Griffiths's argument for the continuation of prosperity was received with great applause. He showed beyond question that the miners are receiving larger wages and are working double time under a Republican administration. He demonstrated that the farmers are receiving largely increased prices for their products since Mc-Kinley's election. Both sides say the story is false from beginning to end. When the Republican shopmen organized their Rough Rider Club they asked the Democratic workmen to join. The latter declined, as was expected, and the matter has not been mentioned from that day to this. The Democratic workmen say they have been treated with every political consideration which they could expect, and which they, as well, accord to their Republican co-

No Developments in Proposed Purchase of the Danish West Indies, Despite Foreign Rumors.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.-Many inquiries have been made recently at the Pension Office as to the status of claims filed for pensions by soldiers of the Spanish-American war. Commissioner Evans said today that the bureau scarcely had time to respond to all the inquiries, and that the claims were being adjudicated as rapidly as possible. "There have been filed 34,000 claims on account of the Spanish-American war up to Monday morning, Oct. 22," said the commissioner. "Calls have been of the speakers is reported to have spoken made for evidence in 33,424 of these claims. of Aguinaldo as a great apostle of freedom, Medical examinations have been ordered by this bureau in 28,224 claims. The difference between the number of claims filed Aguinaldo's history, so I will give it to you and the number of medical examinations ordered practically represents the number of widows' and dependents' claims. Four thousand two hundred and thirty-seven of these claims have been adjudicated already. When the division was organized having charge of these claims all claims of widows to champion that type of man. We are charge of these claims all claims of widows and claims for gunshot wounds and severe disability of soldiers were given the right of way, practically making them special, governed-self-government for those peoob- and they were promptly adjudicated. Twen- ple. Why, after we took Manila a year and, like other divisions of the bureau, the work is now practically current. All classes of claims are treated alike, as provided by the law and the established practice."

Yesterday's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, showed available cash balance, $132,567,164; gold, $85,968,550.

A telegram received at the Postoffice Department from Nome City, Alaska, shows that up to Sept. 21 the Nome postoffice had sold 5,000 money orders. The money order service had been in operation then about three months, and officials here estimate that the sales of money orders for the quarter amounted to $400,000.

ter and Ellis H. Roberts treasurer. Relative to the European reports of the effort of the United States government to purchase the Danish West Indies, it is said here that there has been no change in the status of this matter for some time past. The United States government is quietly awaiting developments in Denmark, where the last effective obstacle was interposed to the transfer in the shape of a popular outcry against the cession of the islands. When the Danish government is in position to make the sale, our government will be prepared to negotiate on the subject afresh. The impression is conveyed here that the figure named as the price to be paid, $7,000,000, is far beyond the mark. "HURRAH FOR BRYAN!" AGAIN. Governor Roosevelt and his party reached Stamford at 12:25. Considering the size of the village a large crowd greeted him. The vice presidential candidate had made a short stop at Roxbury, a few miles below, and had been angered by a man in crowd yelling "Hurrah for Bryan." "Hurrah for Bryan," said the Governor, why don't you hurrah for Bryan? When any man says 'hurrah for Bryan' I always feel like asking why?"

A voice-"They can't answer." "That's it, because Mr. Bryan has anounced that Mr. Croker is the prophet of l'ammany Hall and the State, is why they turrah for Bryan," said Governor Roosevelt. "Again, why hurrah for Bryan? why, for the 40-cent dollar, for the prospect of cutting into the Nation's debt by the simple process of cutting in two the Nation's onor. Is that a good reason for saving 'Hurrah for Bryan! hurrah for Bryan! Why don't you hurrah for Aguinaldo? You will give the greatest possible comfort to every Malay bandit who is shooting at the flag if you help or aid the Bryanized De-between the Bryanized Democracy and the Democracy of Jackson.' The committee at Stamford had secured the new opera house for the addresses and the party was driven there in carriages. An audience that tested the capacity of the house greeted Governor Roosevelt as he walked on the stage. He said in part:

"Now, Mr. Bryan yesterday was speaking about trusts. Apparently trusts are now the paramount issue. That paramount issue has changed so often that it has been a little difficult to keep up with it. Yesterday in his speech he proposed two remedies for the trusts. The first remedy was to put on the free list all trust-made articles. His next proposition is to provide by law that there shall be interference by the federal government. Now I criticise his first remedy as being marked to the last degree by folly. The fact is Mr. Bryan is not sincere. He claims that if the Democratic party had a chance they would abolish trusts. Well, he had four years in Congress and during that time some of the million dollars' worth of trusts were formed, and I have not heard that he raised his finger or his voice to stop them. And then you remember that the records of Congress show that all but four Domocrats in the House voted against the socalled anti-trust bill and gave their reason for so doing, through the mouth of Mr. Richardson, that if the bill was passed they would have nothing to make a paramount issue in this campaign.' FOR ALTGELD AND AGUINALDO.

At Bloomville Colonel Roosevelt said: "I want to call your attention to a little incident that occurred last night in New York. I think you can sometimes know a man by the company he keeps. You can ometimes tell something about a candidate by the people who are his most active supporters. There was a Bryan meeting last night in New York in Cooper Union. i think. Continuing, Governor Roosevelt reviewed, as he has in several previous speeches, the action of Aguinaldo in accepting $400,000 from the Spaniards to cease hostilities and his subsequent action in resuming the waraccused of trying to govern without the consent of the governed. At Oneonta the Governor stated to his audience that he appealed to them for the continuance in power in both State and nation of the administration which they now knew. The Governor referred his hearers to the object lesson presented by the contrast of the city of New York and the government of the State under the Republican party. He also asked his hearers to contrast the hard times of 1894 with the times of 1897.

At Oswego, while the Governor was addressing his auditors, he referred to the fact that some of them wore the Grand Army button and appealed to them to support the government in civil life as they bad in the days of the civil war. The Governor further said: "Now I have just been down through Kentucky. Every-where I went I was introduced on the platform by Gold Democrats, once by Silver Democrat, and three times by ex-Confederate generals. Wherever I have been I have found Democrats supporting us precisely as Republicans support us, because they feel that this is not a mere party contest. Such Democrats as the Union Generals Bragg, of Wisconsin, Sickles and Franz Sigel, of New York, and ex-Confederate soldiers like Buckner and Easil Duke. Some of those men in Kentucky who are standing with us to-day were not with us four years ago. They are with us now because they find that in Kentucky the right of personal liberty, which must underlie all free governments, is involved, and so we find not only Gold Democrats but Silver Democrats with us. I also studied the laws of Massachusetts. But I can tell you one State we only studied a little, because we found nothing in it, and that was Nebraska. They had had Populistic legislation there, and we found some legislation to avoid, but we did not find anything the other way. I have strong hopes that Nebraska will go Republican this year, and if that happens I am willing to guarantee that two or three years hence we will find laws there aflecting labor and corporations which will be good for us to carefully study in reforming our laws, but there is not anything In spite of the rainstorm which set in before the meetings, the Governor talked to Knives and pistols were drawn and an effort made to kill Shroyer and his young son, who was near by. A score of shots were fired, but no one was hit. A reign of terror exists. The saloons have been closed, and Sheriff Gates, who has been sent for, will come here with a posse of deputies.

The negroes employed on the Baltimore & Ohio improvement here were paid off Monday, and have been drunk and disorderly ever since, shooting and rioting in daylight and committing robberies.
